Director's Report

The 2019-2020 academic year has been fascinating. Between July and March 13, the Emeritus College experienced growth in membership activities and attendance at events, headed toward a record year of fundraising, met several milestones in our strategic plan, and developed new ideas for the College. As spring break started, the University and the country began to address the COVID-19 pandemic with a shutdown and shelter-in-place prevention strategy. It was obvious that the University would complete the spring semester virtually. The Emeritus College had to re-focus and re-design its approach to meeting the needs of our faculty. A guiding goal of the College is engagement. The College mission statement served as our guidepost: Facilitate high quality engagement and involvement of Clemson University Emeriti Faculty in service to the University, the Community, and in collegial interactions among Emeriti Members.

Over 15 weeks, the Emeritus College hosted 24 virtual events with 407 attendees. We found a way to stay engaged, to reach out to our members, to touch people when we could not meet in-person. While Zoom meetings are not the same as in-person, the technology has allowed us to “see” each other. As Michael Kohl, Librarian Emeritus, commented in a recent Zoom meeting, while Zoom does allow us to see people, it does not allow for personal “side” conversations that happen when we meet. We look forward to the University helping us to reopen our facilities and welcome people back into the College spaces wearing masks and social distancing. Safety and health are our primary goals, and we will continue to offer and expand our virtual programming to stay engaged with you. Our overall attendance at college in-person and virtual programs was 1094, an increase of 168.1%. Our overall attendance for the year at all social and program events was 1495 (36.8% increase).

I want to personally thank Executive Vice President and Provost Bob Jones and Vice President of Public Service and Agriculture George Askew for their support of the Emeritus College this academic year. Two major projects were made possible by their combined financial commitments. If you have not seen our new signage, drive by the Emeritus College building. It is no longer the “CAT” building. The College name appears on the sign, along with Regulatory Services, our landlord. The signs include directions to parking and walkway signs to help people find the entrance of the building.

The second project was the upgrade to our large conference room. We received Provost Performance Credits and PSA contributions that allowed the up-fitting of the conference room for videoconferencing. Our plan for 2020 was to initiate online delivery of our in-person seminars to reach our emeriti who do not live in the area or who are unable to travel. Little did we know that the pandemic would move all our programming to a virtual platform. The work has been completed and we look forward to streaming our programs in the future.

A special thank you to Dr. Don McKale who has served as the Chair of the Advisory Board and Executive Committee. Dr. McKale has worked tirelessly this year to ensure that the transitions to virtual programming has met our members' needs. The Advisory Board has accomplished numerous goals as outlined in the strategic plan. The College raised $18,111 for scholarships, the Kenelly-Voss endowment, and the general fund, an increase of 54.6%. A list of our donors is included in the report.

A special thank you to Nicole Hanewald. Nicci keeps things moving. She has been working from home. Nicci has become our personal Zoom trainer. As you know, Nicci is the heart and soul of our college. As the only full time employee, she truly makes a difference.

I also want to thank CCIT for their leadership in placing Curt Russell in the Emeritus College. Whether you were able to work with Curt in the building (pre COVID-19) or remotely since, you know what a wonderful resource person Curt is and how he has helped the emeriti faculty.

This issue of The Academy includes the Annual Report. Thanks to Dr. Jerry Trapnell and his committee for the development of the Strategic Plan which guides our work. This has been a great year. A different year, but good, nonetheless. Nicci, Curt, and I look forward to 2020-2021 as we navigate the changes and manage our current pandemic. Wear your mask, social distance, wash your hands, and stay safe.

Debbie Jackson, Director

Emeritus College Vision: Supporting a nationally recognized, transformational and creative academic retirement.

Emeritus College Mission: Facilitate high quality engagement and involvement of Clemson University Emeriti Faculty in service to the University, the Community, and in collegial interactions among Emeriti members.

Annual Report and Executive Summary

- At the end of the 2019-2020 fiscal year, the Clemson University Emeritus College (EC) database has 854 members with active contacts, a decrease of 0.12%.
- Improved EC communications with printed publications and weekly emails on EC activities.
- The EC worked with six classes of business writing students during the fall and spring semesters to improve our communication strategies and our social media presence.
- A survey of emeriti faculty was conducted, and the results are provided in this report. In addition, the Office of Institutional Research provided updated information on our members and their current research and teaching activities both paid and unpaid.
- The College presented the following awards:
 1. Recipients of the Student Scholarship funded by emeriti faculty: Rayyan Alam, Drew Johnson, and Jordan Kiser.
 2. The EC Advisory Board approved a new member recognition program, the I. Dwaine Eubanks Emeritus College Fellows program to recognize EC members for their unremunerated service to the Emeritus College or through initiatives sponsored or supported by the EC. The first fellows selected were announced on August 3, 2020 at a Virtual Celebration.
 3. Emeritus Award for Community Service: During the 2019-20 fiscal year, EC presented its first Community Service Award to a member for outstanding community service: Dr. Linda Gahan, Professor Emerita of Biological Sciences.

- Major EC events, with 1495 total participants, an increase of 36.78%; we were unable to host Emeritus Day in April.
 1. 2019 Fall Annual Meeting and Picnic: 200
 2. 2019 Annual Holiday Social: 201
 3. 2019-2020 educational seminars, focus-discussion luncheons and tours were held on social media, music events, library, technology, academic plans, faculty and student advocacy, 1094; a 168% increase over the previous year.
 4. 24 Zoom seminars, with 407 participants; making the connection using Zoom helped us stay engaged.
- EC faculty members donated $18,111 to support two undergraduate annual student scholarships, the Kenelly-Voss Emeritus College Endowment, and the college's social events and programming. This is an increase of 54.6% from the previous year.
- Signage for the building was completed.
- Health and safety in the Emeritus College is a critical concern. This year we added chairs without rollers to prevent falls. The Director and others in the building were certified/recertified in basic life support and first aid. The College hosted the Sullivan Center for a flu shot clinic for emeriti. As COVID-19 resulted in the closing of the facilities, the College expanded its programming using the Zoom platform.
- The seminar room renovations were planned to add cameras and microphones to facilitate webinars originating from the room to support continued social distancing and to involve our emeriti who are not located in the region.

Strategic Goal Achievements:

1. Increase visibility and recognition of the Emeritus College across the University and beyond:

- Consulted with Creative Services and two logos, visible in this report, have been made available for the Emeritus College consistent with the overall university revised brand guidelines. Transition to all EC communications and documents are in process.
- Website updated and made interactive, moving the calendar of events and improving the directory of emeritus faculty.
- EC Happenings: Weekly emails are transmitted to members regarding EC news and events. The emails have been redesigned to improve the content for faculty.
- The Academy: Newsletter designed highlighting EC events, news, etc. Several new designs are being considered for this upcoming year. The leasing of a new printer that will enable the college to print, bind and fold, will reduce the overall costs of newsletters.
- The improved signage on the outside of the building have been completed and were made possible by our work with Regulatory Services and PSA which also are in the facility. The signage includes several signs for parking and walking along with the overall improved visibility of the building with updated groundwork.
- The College has continued to reach out to the Clemson community and this year hosted seminars and meetings to improve our relationships and expand opportunities for emeriti faculty to participate in university activities:

1. Tours of the Brooks Center and The Library Depot
2. Faculty Advocacy Discussions: Jerry Knighton, Alesia Smith and Danny Weathers
3. College of Education Founding Dean
4. Update on the Sustainability Commission
5. Graduate School and the GRAD 360° program
6. Fulbright Specialist Program
7. CU Libraries
8. CU Enrollment Management and Admissions Panel

2. Increase involvement and engagement of all Emeriti Faculty in activities of the College:

- Communications with Academic Deans and Department Chairs remains a work in progress to communicate to them their respective EC members.
- Communication efforts to all EC members includes weekly emails on EC events, creation of a new calendar, and annual report.
- Completed a survey of member interests.
- Institutional Research Office emeriti data analyzed.
- Addition of emeriti faculty to campus-wide emails (Our Clemson; President Letters).
- Plans for the addition of camera and microphones to enable web-based seminars was initiated prior to COVID-19 and the shelter-in-place orders.
- Implemented seminars using ZOOM in April, with continued programming and meetings held virtually.
- Reconfigured space in response to the COVID-19, including antimicrobial keyboard covers, plans for reducing in-person presentations and increasing web-based platform for synchronous seminars.
- Plans are being developed for Virtual Celebrations and discussions regarding how and when the college will be able to host future social events.

3. Serve Clemson University:

- Expansion of EC members' involvement on University Councils/Committees/Task Forces is a work in progress. EC is represented at the Faculty Senate on a regular basis.
- Worked with six Client-Based Writing Classes in 2019-20. The student groups prepared thorough recommendations related to improvements in our written communications and social media opportunities.
- EC faculty are actively involved in leading and supporting the CIS/CESP program for international students and faculty fall 2019: CESP 45 students, with 33 passing (70%) and 8 students and 1 faculty member participated in the CIS program; Steve Stevenson and Adolph Beyerlein continued student mentoring (8 total students) during the Spring semester using Zoom. The graders and mentors plan to use Zoom, if live interviews are not feasible in the Fall 2020.
- Student scholarships were presented this year to: Rayyan Alam, Bioengineering major received the Kenelly-Voss Scholarship and Drew Johnson, Psychology, and Jordan Kiser, Political Science, received the Emeritus College Annual Scholarships for Excellence.
- Clemson faculty from across the university provided seminars for the emeritus faculty this year. We were honored by their participation and look forward to a continued relationship with them.
- EC faculty participated with HR in retirement briefings for Clemson faculty.
- The IR review of the emeritus faculty demonstrated that 76 emeriti faculty taught 104 classes in the Fall of 2019. Forty-seven (47) of the faculty did so with remuneration. In addition, 126 emeriti faculty were serving as chairs of thesis and dissertation committees; another 12 were co-chair and another 515 were on student committees.

- Vic Shelburne served as co-chair and Provost Fellow of the Clemson University Commission on Sustainability.
- Sterling (Skip) Eisiminger is a volunteer instructor in the ESL program, Learning English Across Frontiers (LEAF) and used Zoom to be able to continue to work with his student groups throughout the Spring semester.

4. Serve the broader community:

- EC faculty continued to support numerous non-profit groups across the Clemson community, including, but not limited to OLLI, Sertoma, the Free Clinic, the Community Foundation of Greater Clemson, and others.
- The Advisory Board expanded the role and objectives of the Community Outreach Committee.

5. Facilitate substantive, quality social and educational program of events for Emeriti Faculty:

- Overall, 1495 emeriti faculty have attended one or more events during this academic year, an increase of 36.78%. At the same time, we were unable to host our largest event of the year, Emeritus Day.
- Major EC social events in 2019-20 included: Fall Picnic (200) and December Holiday Party (201).
- COVID-19 has limited our ability to have in-person events. Our last in-person seminar was March 13, 2020. Since that date, 24 programs and meetings have been held using the Zoom platform. We are excited to report that our attendance at events has been strong, with 407 participants.
- A record number of participants for our seminars, programs and meetings in 2019-20, with a total of 1094 or a 168% increase from the previous year.
- Our programming has included tours, seminars, luncheons, music events and panels. Our speakers have included emeriti faculty, current Clemson faculty, guests from other universities, and Clemson students (current and recently graduated).

- EC faculty members donated $18,111 to support two undergraduate annual student scholarships, the Kennelly-Voss Emeritus College Endowment, and the college's social events and programming. This is an increase of 54.6% from the previous year.

Emeritus College Survey Report

Between October 27 and November 9, 2019, the Emeritus College with an undergraduate Client-Based writing class conducted a survey of emeritus faculty to gather their opinions about the college, our communication strategies, and future needs of the members. In addition, we used the Office of Institutional Research to provide additional data about our entire membership. These are the results of the two data collection activities.

| Total Count of Individuals by Gender | | | | |
|--------------------------------------|------------|------------|----------|------------|
| Group | Male | Female | Unknown | Total |
| 87 and over | 55 | 9 | 0 | 64 |
| 78-86 | 202 | 47 | 1 | 250 |
| 67-77 | 271 | 90 | 0 | 361 |
| 51-66 | 48 | 20 | 0 | 68 |
| 50 and under | 4 | 1 | 0 | 5 |
| Total | 580 | 167 | 1 | 748 |

| Individuals by Race | | | | |
|---------------------|-----------|-------------------------------|-----------|-------------|
| Hispanic (2) | Asian (4) | Black or African American (5) | White (7) | Unknown (9) |
| 4 | 19 | 19 | 639 | 67 |

In summary, 85% of our members are white; 22% female; 48% between the ages of 67-78 and 33% between the ages of 78-86; and 91% live in South Carolina.

We also learned that in the fall semester, 76 emeriti taught 104 sections of classes for the university, 47 of whom were not remunerated for their role in the classroom. In addition, another 126 faculty chaired graduate students' thesis and dissertation committees. While 12 served as co-chair; and another 515 were on committees.

The college had 132 responses to the email distributed survey link (17.6% rate of return). The demographics of the survey respondents closely mirror our total population, with 74.6% male and 24.6% female. The good news is that 95% of the responses indicated that they were satisfied with their overall experience with the Emeritus College and with the way in which the college was communicating with them regarding programs and events. The frequency of the communications from the college to members were appropriate and the types of events and programs met member needs.

One key comment related to those faculty who do not live in the Upstate of SC. This was instrumental in the Executive Committee's plan to up-fit the conference room for synchronous distribution of seminars using web-based platforms to provide programming to members not able to join events in the building.

The client-based student classes had several recommendations for the College which included a new logo, active social media platforms (Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn), student partnerships, and fundraising by selling products. Our members are not actively engaged in the social media platforms. Eight emerti had Instagram accounts and only 45% had Facebook accounts.

The classes did have some great ideas on our weekly newsletter to increase the readability, as well as a shared calendar. The Advisory Board and Executive Committee have discussed the student papers and recommendations. Several steps have been taken, including a redesign of the EC Happenings weekly newsletter as well as a shared calendar has been made available. In addition, in working with the Clemson's branding office, new logos for the college have been provided that are aligned with the University's current brand guidelines and colors.

We plan to continue to work with the Office of Institutional Research to review our faculty data on annual basis. Our next survey of our faculty will be conducted this fall to address interest in community outreach and a speaker's bureau.

Emeritus Award for Community Service

The Emeritus College was honored to bestow the Emeritus Award for Community Service to Dr. Linda Gahan, Associate Professor Emerita of Biological Sciences, at its Annual Meeting and Fall Picnic in October 2019. This award was established by the Emeritus College

Advisory Board to recognize emeritus faculty members who provide extraordinary service to the community or their professions outside the university and Emeritus College. This award is presented in odd-numbered years with the inaugural year being 2019.

For the past several years, Dr. Gahan has been involved with Concerned Citizens for Animals. A significant number of animals are abandoned at the end of a given spring semester, resulting in several abandoned cats throughout the Clemson community. Linda feeds 13 cats seven days a week between 6:30 and 7:30 am, as well as monitors their health and behavior around the area of the former Clemson House.

Dr. Gahan is a supporter and benefactor for Clemson Community Care and the Clemson Child Development Center. She is the past president of the Clemson League of Women Voters and has served in the presidential capacity four times. She not only served as an officer but also does several service activities within the League including three international women's workshops and training programs in Kenya. Her volunteer outreach can be seen in her other community service activities: Secretary, Clemson-Central Advisory Board, 2010-12; Past moderator at Fort Hill Presbyterian Women, 2011-12, 2017-19; Co-Coordinator of Family Promise at Fort Hill Presbyterian Church, 2014-20; Chaired a fundraiser for the local P.E.O. Sisterhood Chapter for women's college scholarships. In 2012, Linda received the Clemson Rotary Club Community Service Award. Congratulations to Dr. Gahan!

Clemson Leaders in the Association of Retirement Organizations in Higher Education (AROHE)

AROHE was founded in 2002 and grew from many years of informal conferences led by universities across the United States. AROHE's history details the leadership and influence of successful long-standing organizations including FSU, Clemson University, UCLA, University of Southern California, Indiana University and University of Washington.

The Emeritus College at Clemson founded in 2003 as the brainchild of Doris Helms and with the hard work of Jerry Reel, and the leadership of Diane Smathers, a concept paper was developed for a more formal structure for the College. It required space and a little money. An advisory board was named, emeriti took ownership of the College and provided direction, programming, and donations.

At the same time, the emeriti became more engaged in AROHE leadership as well. Diane produced an article for AROHE on Clemson's Emeritus College in 2008. In 2011, Lucy Rollin was elected to the board of AROHE. In 2013, Lucy Rollin was chair of the AROHE nominations committee. In 2015, Larry Gahan was elected to AROHE's board; followed by Lucy Eubanks who was elected secretary in 2017, and Hoke Hill who was elected to the AROHE board in 2019.

Lucy Eubanks continues to serve the Advisory Board of the Emeritus College as our liaison to AROHE and in that role submits regular articles on Clemson's activities, highlighting special events and activities of our college. In October 2018, the Clemson University Emeritus College was recognized by the AROHE with an Innovation Award for the Clemson English-Speaking Proficiency (CESP) testing and the Conversations with International Students (CIS) program.

A special thank you to our Clemson emeriti faculty who are leaders in AROHE activities and keep our college informed. It is essential that we remain engaged with other emeritus colleges and retired organizations and that we learn new or different ways to meet the needs of Clemson's emeriti members.

2020 Inaugural Class of IDE Fellows

In a virtual ceremony, the Emeritus College along with the Provost's Office recognized the I. Dwaine Eubanks EC Fellows for 2020. This award named in honor of former EC director, Dr. Dwaine Eubanks, Professor Emeritus of Chemistry, recognizes emeritus faculty members who steadily render valuable service without compensation to the Emeritus College and beyond. EC Director, Debra Jackson stated during the ceremony "We will always be grateful for Dwaine's contributions to the College from the amazing office and faculty workspace to the connections made for emeritus faculty on campus. Dwaine was a visionary and we continue his legacy at the Emeritus College through the Fellows program named in his honor."

Adolph L. Beyerlein, Professor Emeritus of Chemistry: Chair, Language Skills Committee; 2017 recipient of the Kenelly-Voss Distinguished Emeriti Award. From his nominator: "Adolph's post-retirement contributions to the university, to the department of chemistry and to mentoring international students alone merit this recognition."

Harold E. Cheatham, Professor Emeritus and Dean, College of Behavioral, Social and Health Sciences: Emeritus College Advisory Board member; Contributes to the CESP test as a grader and CIS program mentor. From his nominator: "I strongly recommend naming Harold Cheatham as a Fellow for his leadership, work, and strong dedication to serving the Emeritus College and the university."

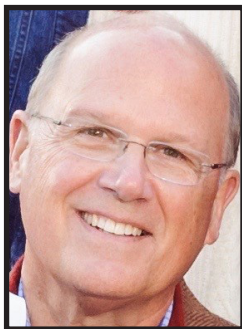

EMERITUS COLLEGE

Clifton “Chip” S. M. Egan, Alumni Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Performing Arts and Dean, College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities:

Served as Interim Director to the Emeritus College; Emeritus College Advisory Board member; 2014 recipient of the Kennelly-Voss Distinguished Emeriti Award; Member of the Language Skills Committee.

From his nominator: “Chip has served the College in many roles, from the advisory board to interim director, but is best known for the expansion of member benefits helping emeriti retain their Clemson userids, email and software access through CCIT.”

Delbert “Del” L. Kimbler, Professor Emeritus of Industrial Engineering:

Serves on EC Advisory Board and former Chair; Chair, EC Creative Works Committee; Former editor of the EC newsletter. From his nominator: “Del is always available to help the College and his years of service in a variety of roles demonstrates his commitment.”

Gary L. Powell, Professor Emeritus of Genetics and Biochemistry:

Emeritus College Advisory Board member, Chair, EC Professional Skills Committee. From his nominator: “Gary is committed to improving graduate education and faculty mentoring at Clemson. He works closely with the Graduate School and the Professional Development Program finding ways to connect emeriti to graduate students and faculty.”

Bonnie Holaday, Professor Emerita of Nursing and Dean, Graduate School:

Mentor for CIS Program since 2014; Emeritus College Advisory Board member. From her nominator: “Bonnie is known for not only helping students improve their English-speaking skills but also going the extra mile to help students adapt to American culture.”

M. Elaine Richardson, Professor Emerita of Animal and Veterinary Sciences and Director, Academic Success Center:

EC Advisory Board member and former chair; Chair, EC Undergraduate Support Committee. From her nominator: “Elaine is always ready to help with a smile and great ideas. She is a strong advocate for Clemson’s undergraduate students, continually finding avenues to promote emeriti involvement and mentoring of students.”

Cecil O. Huey, Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering:

Served as Chair of the Emeritus College Advisory Board; 2018 recipient of the Kenelly-Voss Distinguished Emeriti Award; Chair, EC Programming Committee. From his nominator: “Cecil looks for new and creative avenues that the College can use to expand emeriti and community participation in events. Cecil is always the first to volunteer to help the College.”

EMERITUS COLLEGE

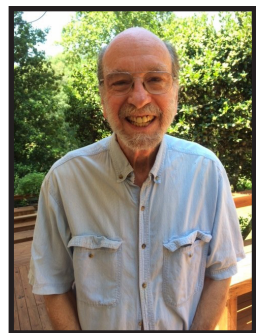

Dennis “Steve” E. Stevenson, Associate

Professor Emeritus of Computing: CESP test grader since 2104, CIS Mentor, currently mentoring five students. From his nominator: Steve mentors more students in the CIS program than any other mentor. Students love the support he gives them as a CIS mentor.”

Stuart Silvers, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy: Active member of Language Skills Committee since 2013, Serves as CESP grader and CIS mentor. From his nominator: “Although most students only participate in the CIS program on semester, Stuart’s students always ask (even plead) to continue the CIS program with him beyond ton semester or after passing the CESP test.”

2019-2020 Emeriti Honorees

The Emeritus College honored the following 18 new members at a virtual recognition ceremony. These new emeriti represent seven colleges and have a combined 488 years of service to Clemson University.

The ceremony was led by Bob Jones, provost and executive vice president for academic affairs; Emeritus College Director Debra Jackson; Faculty Senate President John Whitcomb; Calvin Shoulties, Awards Committee chair; and Advisory Board Chair Joel Greenstein. Associate Provost for Faculty Affairs Amy Lawton-Rauh presented “ClemsonFORWARD: Success and Look to Our Future.”

Welcome to the new emeriti for 2019-2020!

- Warren Philip Adams, Professor Emeritus of Mathematical and Statistical Sciences
- Lawrence Robert Allen, Professor Emeritus of Parks, Recreation and Tourism Management and Dean, College of Health, Education and Human Development

- Wen Yuan Chen, Professor Emeritus of Biological Sciences
- Michael John Dorsch, (posthumously) Professor Emeritus of Marketing
- Georges Michel Fadel, ExxonMobil Employees’ Chaired Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering
- Larry Franklin Hodges, Professor Emeritus of School of Computing
- Ned Mark Hosler, Associate Professor Emeritus of Music
- Dinah Gail Julian, Librarian Emerita
- Frances Anne Kennedy, Professor Emerita of Accountancy and Special Assistant to the Provost for Academic Quality Improvement
- Thomas James Kuehn, Professor Emeritus of History
- Janis Lynn Miller, Associate Professor Emerita of Management
- James K. Peterson, Associate Professor Emeritus of Mathematical and Statistical Sciences

- Lisa Gail Rapaport, Sociology, Anthropology and Criminal Justice
- Marilyn A. Reba, Mathematical and Statistical Sciences
- Laura Jane Shick, Mathematical and Statistical Sciences
- Caron St. John, Management
- Patrick Douglas Sterling, Computing
- Allison Kesler Stoddard, Mathematical and Statistical Sciences
- Melissa Anne Vogel, Anthropology

Donations 2019-2020

Your donations to the College are extremely important! The easiest way to make a donation is online with a credit card by visiting the Emeritus College homepage and clicking on the "Give to the Emeritus College" tab on the right-hand side of the page. Click the "Search for a Fund" tab. Under "Search for a fund to support" type Emeritus College and select from the list: "Emeritus College"; "Emeritus College Annual Scholarship Fund for Excellence" or "Kennelly-Voss Endowed Emeriti Fund" then proceed with the rest of the donation form. If you prefer to make your donation with a personal check, you can mail a check made out to Clemson University Foundation (with "Emeritus College" and your specific designation written in the memo line) to the following address:

- Joseph Culin, Professor Emeritus of Entomology, Publication: Stellwagen, Sarah D., and Joseph D. Culin. 2020. Diversity and habitat distributions of ground-surface spiders (Araneae) in Kings Mountain National Military Park, South Carolina. Southeastern Naturalist 19(1): 128-151.
- Harry Durham, Lecturer (Legal Studies), retired, continued work on a video production of the memories of The Clemson House. His work included conducting interviews, writing script and narrating. This production also included Randy Rice, Jeff Martin and Penny Hall.
- Cheryl Dye, Professor Emerita of Public Health Sciences and Director, CU Institute of Engaged Aging, organized free community classes to help seniors reduce the risk and fear of falling.
- David Egan, Professor Emeritus of Construction Science and Management, Architectural Acoustics, McGraw-Hill, NY (1988) was named by Arch Daily (digital architecture magazine) among “Best Architecture Books.” David published U.S. Go Home, a comprehensive history of the US military in France from the end of WWII until the end of 1968 published by Schiffer Publishing. The book has more than 130 annotated maps and illustrations and is the result of 15 years of research by Dr. Egan and his wife.

- Skip Eisiminger, Professor Emeritus of English, participated in the redecking project at Abernathy Park, Clemson. Dr. Eisiminger presented to the emeritus faculty on two occasions.
- Alan Elzerman, Professor Emeritus of Environmental Engineering and Earth Sciences, with his wife (Ellie Elzerman) taught a summer course (2020) for graduate students at Lander University in the Montessori teachers’ program. The course was about teaching elementary students physical and biological sciences while satisfying state standards and using Montessori methods.
- Lucy Eubanks, Lecturer (Chemistry), retired, was recognized by the American Chemical Society for her sixty years of service.
- Terry Farris, Associate Professor Emeritus of City Planning and Real Estate Development, Publications: Terry Farris (2020) Shaping a City: Ithaca, New York, A Developer’s Perspective, by Mack Travis, Journal of Urban Affairs, 42:3, 476-478, DOI: 10.1080/07352166.2019.1704106; Terry Farris (2019) Business Improvement Districts in the United States: Private Government and Public Consequences, by Abraham Unger, Journal of Urban Affairs, 41:6, 875-877, DOI: 10.1080/07352166.2018.1547550
- Linda Gahan, Associate Professor Emerita of Biological Sciences, was the recipient of the Emeritus Award for Community Service. This award recognizes emeritus faculty members who provide extraordinary service to the community or their professions outside the university and Emeritus College.
- Dixie Goswami, Professor Emerita of English, was awarded the Virtue Family Exceptional Service Award from Middlebury College. She also was named as an Advisor to the South Carolina Arts Commissions’ Art of the Community: Rural South Carolina Program and as Director Emerita of Middlebury Bread Loaf NextGen National Social Action Network.
- John Gowdy, Professor Emeritus of Electrical and Computer Engineering, taught ECE 4670-6670 in the fall of 2019. The class was a hybrid providing online and in-class experiences to students.
- Gordon Halfacre, Professor Emeritus of Plant and Environmental Sciences, continued to serve as the Faculty Ombudsman for Clemson University.
- Dori Helms, Professor Emerita of Biological Sciences and VP of Academic Affairs and Provost, was awarded the Riley Award from the South Carolina Council of Teachers of Mathematics.
- Hoke Hill, Professor Emeritus of Mathematical and Statistical Sciences, continued to serve on the national board of the Association of Retirement Organizations in Higher Education as well as the president of the Board of Directors of the Bayshore Association, Inc.
- Robert Hogan, Professor Emeritus of Architecture, served as advisor for Alpha Phi Omega and the CU student chapter of Habitat for Humanity. He is a member of the Construction and Property Committee for the Pickens County Habitat for Humanity.
- Bonnie Holaday, Professor Emerita of Nursing and Dean, taught FCS 8011: Life in a Global Community in the Fall 2019.
- William Michael Hood, Professor Emeritus of Entomology, published a book entitled, “Bees and Man.”
- Gordon Howard, Professor Emeritus of Parks, Recreation and Tourism Management, lead the Crown Point Banding

Station through its 45th consecutive year of collecting data from migratory birds. This was the only non-government program allowed to operate on New York State's park lands this summer due to COVID-19 restrictions. Thus, it was able to collect data on the environmental perturbations associated with pandemic related changes in human behavior as they impacted migrating birds. Additionally, the Banding Station became a cooperator in the Bird Genoscape Project, a hemisphere-wide avian genetics research program managed by units of the University of California-Los Angeles (UCLA) and the Colorado State University.

- Joan Hudson, Professor Emerita of Materials Science and Engineering, read proposals for the Clemson University Research Office.
- Cecil Huey, Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering, Courses Presented, Clemson OLLI: The Theory of Relativity for Barstool Physicists and Starbucks Philosophers; Quantum Theory for Barstool Physicists and Starbucks Philosophers; The Hacienda La Esperanza Steam Engine and Sugar Mill; Einstein, Bohr, Relativity, Quantum Theory, and a Philosophical Conundrum for Barstool Physicists and Starbucks Philosophers; Science from Pythagoras to Plank: A Once-over for Barstool Physicists and Starbucks Philosophers Creative Inquiry: ME Department, Clemson University (in collaboration with active faculty) Development of a System to Incentivize Litter Collection/Storage in Developing Areas Other: Member, Board of Trustees, Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Clemson, Vice President, Clemson Class of 1939, Member, Emeritus College Advisory Board, Hearing Chair, Mechanical Engineering Portfolio Review Committee, SC Board of Professional Engineers & Surveyors
- Raymond Huff, Associate Professor Emeritus of Architecture and Director, was featured in an article titled, "Black Architects in Charleston are Scarce. It's Not a Problem Unique to South Carolina" in Charleston's Post and Courier newspaper.

- Romando James, Professor Emeritus of Family and Youth Development, continued to conduct classes using the concepts of purpose, respect, integrity, discipline and enthusiasm (P.R.I.D.E), he established more than 30 years ago to teach young people skills necessary to succeed professionally and in life. He was featured in the Seneca Journal newspaper.

- James Navratil, Professor Emeritus of Environmental Engineering and Earth Sciences, completed his novel “The Third Bear Hug” and continues writing on his next novel “The Fourth Bear Hug.”
- Tom Parks, Professor Emeritus of Educational and Organizational Leadership, published “Goodbye to a State: A Tour of South Carolina in Photography and Poetry.”
- Gary Powell, Professor Emeritus of Genetics and Biochemistry, continued to serve as advisor for the CU Biochemistry and Genetics Club as well as a Senior Dixon Fellow.
- Thomas Scott, Professor Emeritus of Poultry Science and Dean, served as Director of Technology and Investment (TDI) for the Agribusiness Center for Research & Entrepreneurship (ACRE).
- Ben Skardon, Professor Emeritus of English, received the Clemson Medallion (Clemson University's highest honor).
- Elaine Richardson, Professor Emerita of Animal and Veterinary Sciences and Director, earned the National College Learning Center Association's Lifetime Achievement Award.
- Dolores Stegelin, Emerita of Teaching and Learning, served as the chair of the Research Committee for the Institute for Child Success in which she also is a Senior Fellow. She co-authored a Brief for the Institute for Child Success (ICS), a child advocacy organization headquartered in Greenville, SC: Baum, A.C., Schnake, K.,

& Stegelin, D.A. (2020). Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health Issues-Institute for Child Success (IC)S Brief. Institute for Child Success, Greenville, SC (February 2020).

- Jerry Trapnell, Professor Emeritus of Accountancy and Dean, during the 2019-20 academic year, he advised the Dean's office of the College of Business supporting its preparation for the College's reaccreditation in business and accounting by AACSB International. Dr. Trapnell assisted in report preparation and planning for the peer review team visit. He also participated in the team's campus visit.
- Terry Tritt, Alumni Distinguished Professor of Physics and Astronomy, received the Outstanding Achievement Award in the Field of Thermoelectrics Research by the International Thermoelectric Society. He will receive the award at the 2021 Conference in Poland.
- Sam Wang, Alumni Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Visual Arts, attended the 2nd International Seminar on Alternative Photography at the Nanjing University of the Arts in Nanjing China, on their invitation for lectures and workshops. In Memoriam

"I have my names and I see once more the faces and feel again the beloved personalities that go with them. If you will but close your eyes and drift awhile, you, too, will recall the names and faces and personalities of those who meant the most to you while the privilege of being among them was yours."

Joe Sherman, Class of '34
