

Dr. Dave Stroup
Palmetto Professor
Emeritus of Biology

Dr. David J. Stroup is Palmetto Professor of Biology Emeritus. He served as President of the South Carolina Academy of Science. Dr. Stroup retired in 2015 from Francis Marion University. In 2004 he received The South Carolina Governor's Award for Excellence in Science, the highest award for Science in the State of South Carolina. Dr. Stroup has published several books and articles and has spoken at over 100 Colleges and Universities across the country. His interests include woodworking, knife making, working with leather, beading, and the decorative arts.